

THE COALITION FOR ASIAN AMERICAN CHILDREN AND FAMILIES

DO SOMETHING! Become a Youth Leader, Join ASAP.

HAVE A VOICE ♦ MAKE A DIFFERENCE
BE PART OF A GROUP WORKING TO CREATE CHANGE IN EDUCATION

The Coalition for Asian American Children and Families (CACF) is the nation's only pan-Asian children's rights organization. Since 1986, CACF has been dedicated to making sure that all Asian Pacific American children and families in New York City have the proper access and opportunities to grow up happy and safe. We work to secure better policies, funding and services for the East Asian, South Asian, Southeast Asian, and Pacific Islander communities. For the past 13 years, CACF has organized diverse Asian Pacific American youth from all 5 boroughs. We believe that Asian Pacific American youth have a meaningful role to be active agents in promoting equity and creating change. Through the experience of our youth leadership program, youth will develop a campaign and the skills necessary to raise awareness of issues in their community and get their voices heard.

What is ASAP? The Asian American Student Advocacy Project (ASAP) is a youth leadership program for Asian Pacific American public high school students who want to learn how to make positive changes in education through advocacy. Advocacy is what we do to express our ideas about what can be improved. By identifying problems and coming up with helpful solutions, we can advocate for improvements in our schools. Youth Leaders want to create positive change for the Asian Pacific American community and improve schools and the education system. Youth Leaders work together on a campaign and develop recommendations that address issues and problems that affect Asian Pacific American students.

What does ASAP do? ASAP Youth Leaders represent the voice of Asian Pacific American students and their needs. Some of the campaigns they have worked on include: Campaign Bridge, a campaign to make sure that all Asian Pacific American students have the guidance and support they need to be able to graduate high school, and be prepared for college and their future; and our Ethnic Studies campaign that aims for more inclusive diversified curriculum in public schools. ASAP participants will develop their leadership skills as they learn the components of leading a youth-led campaign. They will utilize these skills as they meet with community partners, decision makers and media representatives in their work to create positive change for the needs of community.

What do ASAP meetings look like? ASAP meets in the summer (Summer Institute, two weeks in August) and meets once a week during the school year (Tuesdays from 4:30-6:30). Weekly meetings take place in downtown Manhattan. ASAP sessions include: Group discussions, guest speakers, campaign development, skills-building, community outreach and meetings with public officials and community leaders.

What to Expect in ASAP 2017-2018? WE NEED NEW ASAP youth leaders who will help us examine the impact on campaigns to reform the current education system for guidance and inclusive curriculum to improve college/career readiness for all high school students in public schools, and identify what more needs to be done.

What are the benefits of joining ASAP? Develop your leadership skills • Learn about advocacy • Work as a member of a team • Meet youth from different schools • Stay connected as a member of CACF • Increase knowledge on NYC's education system • Increase knowledge on the Asian American community/identity • Networking opportunities • Earn a certificate of recognition • Letter of recommendation • Stipend upon completion of the year • Earn up to 100 hours of Community Service

Can I apply? ASAP seeks NYC public high school students of Asian descent or those interested in Asian Pacific American issues who are interested in building leadership and advocacy skills and creating positive change in the school system and in the community. To be eligible, you must be:

- Enrolled in a New York City public high school in Fall 2017.
